

THE GLOBAL GRANT WRITERS COLLECTIVE

WHO WE ARE

We are a diverse community of grant writers who have collectively secured more than $676 million in funding for organizations worldwide. All of our members complete an advanced curriculum through Learn Grant Writing, a CFRE-approved educator.

HOW WE WORK

A private online hub connects our members from around the globe. In this virtual community square, we ask questions, offer advice, and share news, trends, and industry insights that benefit our clients. We also have bimonthly coaching calls to discuss specific challenges. Members act as a resource for each other in grant writing, funding research, and consulting projects. We collaborate to manage large grants and those with tight timelines, creating teams best suited for specific funding opportunities.

WHO WE SERVE

We work with nonprofit organizations; tribal, local, and state governments; educational institutions; and other groups that are striving to make the world a better place. The federal, private, corporate, and international funding we have secured has helped enhance the quality of life for individuals and communities. It has financed efforts to advance social justice, foster scientific progress, improve educational outcomes, support the arts, and safeguard the environment.

OUR MEMBERS HAVE SECURED
$676+ MILLION
IN GRANT FUNDING AROUND THE WORLD

This model is different, and we love it. We have our lead grant writer, and she brings on additional team members when we have big applications. Expectations are clear. The process is smooth. Whatever they are doing over at Learn Grant Writing, it's working.

Grace Henderson
Nonprofit Executive Director

WHAT MAKES US UNIQUE

When you hire a member of the Collective, you tap into a network of more than 600 professional grant writers with an unparalleled range of expertise. The Collective provides its members with knowledge, resources, and support that would take a grant writer decades to develop individually.